Capped at last minute!

Antioch retailers grin at big Christmas sales

by GLORIA DAVIS

"Our Christmas sales were far above those of last year and that was a great one," said Sandy Seigmeier of Jack's Four Squires.

She added that November had been a busy month and, after a good start at the beginning of December, sales slowed a bit but made a resounding bounce back as the last shopping days approached.

Sweater vests were the top seller in the men's department and dressy clothes for women outsold the usual casual sale leaders like sweaters and coordinates.

"Many of the dressy outfits were bought by the ladies themselves but we found that just as many evening dresses etc. were purchased as gifts," she said.

"Our sales were up 10 percent over last year," said Connie Maynard, manager of The Globe, adding the men's department was really booming.

"We sold everything out of that department," she said.

The Globe also did well with "any blouse or sweater with glitter or beading on it."

The shopping at the Globe was erratic, with two tremendously busy days right after Thanksgiving and then it was hit or miss until the weekend before Christmas when the store was swamped with shoppers.

Larry Hansen of BJ's Men's Store also said that the last three days were the biggest sale days.

"We held our prices at regular retail level which small stores have to do to pay for the spring merchandise," said Hansen, adding, "so our profits were up a little from last year."

Hansen was referring to the report that chain stores nationwide claim up to a 15 percent sales increase over last year. He was questioning whether those were number of sales or profit figures based on the new promotion of sale merchandise before Christmas.

BJ's best sellers were in the young men's department where the new canvasses and sweaters were a hot item.

Bill Gazda, manager of Osco Drugs, said his sales were great, up over last year with the shopping busy right from Thanksgiving on through Christmas Eve.

Wayne Vivorito of King's Drugstore raved about "the record month of December," as he added, "It was far above last year, with perfume and candy the best selling gift items."

Dick Schlarbaum of Ace Hardware said the sales were "Good" but he didn't have any final figures yet.

Jackie Olisar of Jackie's Hallmark gave the nice weather the credit for what she happily said was more than a 15 percent increase in sales over last year.

"Everything sold well, cards, wrapping paper and gift items," she said.

Don Mański, Chamber president and manager of Ben Franklin, said all the Chamber members he had talked to said that local business was up in general.

"Ours was really super, with gift shopping beginning early, a few weeks before Thanksgiving and going at a steady climb until Christmas," he added.

Toys were the best selling item with the Cabbage Patch Doll and Preemie the most sought after.

"We didn't have any of those but Transformer was probably our best seller, with G. I. Joe, My Little Pony and Rainbow Brite close behind," he said, saying that these sales accounted for a near 10 percent increase in sales over last year.

Weber for mayor

The municipal and township elections will take place on Tuesday, April 2.

Anyone seeking any of the four open positions on the Antioch Village Board or that of the clerk's office, must file petitions from Jan. 14 to Jan. 21 at 5 p.m.

Petitions for a political party must contain 60 signatures and petitions for independent candidates must contain no less than 60 signatures and no more than 110.

Positions open in the spring election are those held by Antioch's Mayor Ray Toft and Clerk Marilyn Sterbenz, as well as the board seats now held by Rod White, Vern Bernstable and Ron Cunningham.

Sterbenz said that she was under the impression that all the incumbents are running for reelection.

Petitions are available at the village hall right now.

The board seats held by Robert Wilton, Mabel Lou Weber and Don Amundsen do not come up for election for another two years.

But Mabel Lou Weber has announced that she will run for the mayor's job. She has served as a board member for three years, having finished her husband Arnold's term in 1979 and had been defeated in her attempt to retain her seat in 1981 by Claudette Skvarce, but was reelected in the last election.

Weber is the second woman to seek the village's top office. Marge Nelson unsuccessfully challenged Wilton and Toft in 1973.

Toft, the incumbent that year, lost that election to Wilton.

Sterbenz said that she was under the impression that all the incumbents will run as a party, the name still to be chosen.

A party name used in the last election cannot be used in this one.

No party names have been used since the last mayoral election in 1981 so the name of the party that ran then, The Citizen's Action Party (CAP) can be used in this election.

Antioch family's Yule spoiled by accident

An Antioch family had a tragic ending to their Christmas celebration when their car was hit head-on at 5:16 p.m. on Christmas Day.

Gary, 32, Diane, 29, Jason, 8, and Jeremy, 6, all members of the Hadad family, were taken to Victory Memorial Hospital by the Antioch Rescue Squad.

At press-time the father, mother and the oldest boy were in stable condition, although the parents were still in the hospital's critical care unit.

Jeremy had been treated for injuries and released.

Elizabeth Davis, Antioch, was driving west on Rte. 173. At the intersection of Lotus Ave. when an eastbound car driven by Oscar Queen, 60, Antioch, crossed the center line.

Davis's car left the roadway to avoid colliding with the Queen car which then struck the Hadad car head-on.

Queen, who was transferred from Victory to a veterans hospital, was ticketed for the accident.

Davis and a passenger, Redena Spudville, Antioch were uninjured.

The Antioch Rescue Squad was returning from an earlier accident that occurred at 4:40 p.m., at Rte. 173 and Maple Ave.

Timothy Genengels, 44, Round Lake, was driving west on Rte. 173 when, according to him, a car driven by Roger Schaufel of Twin Lakes made a left turn onto Maple Ave. in front of him.

Schaufel was ticketed at the scene. Genengels' car went into a skid when brakes were applied, went into a ditch and hit a utility pole.

Genengels was taken to St. Therese Trauma Sattelight in Lake Villa for treatment of injuries.

Kevin Bur, 16, and Darren Lyon, 13, were uninjured passengers in the Genengels car.

Good news in The News

Best decorated house

The best decorated house in Oakwood Knolls was 208 Bridgewood. The Tragasz family will receive a free year membership in the Oakwood Knolls association.

Honorable mention goes to houses at: 229 Hickory, the Zydek family; 479 Edgewood, the Frasci family; 415 Maplewood, the Rockow family; and 119 Bridgewood, the Orlando family.

School Board meeting

The Antioch School District 34 Board of Education will hold a special meeting on Tuesday, Jan. 8, beginning at 7:30 p.m., in the library of the W.C. Petty School, 850 Highway Dr., Antioch.

The purpose of the meeting will be to interview and act upon candidates for the board of education and to review and act upon bids for the heating and air conditioning systems at Antioch Upper Grade School.

Along the way with ANNIE MAE

Here are some New Year's resolutions that some of the well-known people in Antioch might think about making.

After resolving never again to drive a car with Wisconsin license plates in an Antioch parade, Antioch's Mayor Ray Toft might decide whether or not to let women go first with Trustee Mabel Lou Weber set to oppose him in the spring election.

There are many people in Antioch who might resolve never again to write headline getting letters.

Ken Smouse and Warren Polley have both evidently made resolves to take it easier in 1985 but somehow I think that they will both still be in evidence at Antioch functions.

A certain police officer on the Antioch force could make a resolution not to shoot anymore bathroom floors.

Bob Wilton could plan on keeping the snow off of his front steps. (Sorry, couldn't resist that one.)

Annie Mae has made a promise to drive a different car everyday so that the Antioch Police Dept. (under orders from Lt. Tom Fisher) won't be able to seek it out to give it a parking ticket.

All Antioch residents should try to do most of their shopping in town to help support the local merchants. Remember, even if you can buy an item slightly cheaper somewhere else, it might not be cheaper in the long run if a drop in the sales tax picked up by the village causes local taxes to go up.

This is the 53rd issue of the Antioch News for 1984. It doesn't happen too often!

Crime Stoppers successful in '84

As Lake County Crime Stoppers enter into a new year of operation it reports on the success of the program in 1984.

Since opening for business in May of 1984, Lake County Crime Stoppers has been able to recover over $284,000 in stolen property and narcotics; 160 felony cases have been cleared with 68 arrests.

The program is currently working with a 95 percent conviction rate while the board of directors have authorized almost $9,000 dollars in reward payments.

These statistics place Lake County Crime Stoppers in the top 10 percent of all the Crime Stoppers programs that are operational throughout the United States and Canada.

The basic concept of Crime Stoppers is to unite the public, media and police in the common goal of solving crimes. It is obvious from the success of the program in Lake County that all three facitons are supportive and willing to work together in order to make Lake County a safer place to live and raise children.

Calls for Lake County Crime Stoppers are being taken at (312) 662-2222. The telephone is manned from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. at night and on the weekends an automatic answering device is used to record any messages or information that people want to leave.

Crime Stoppers is interested in all types of crime, not just what is advertised from week to week. Anyone having any information about a felony or felony fugitive should contact Lake County Crime Stoppers, remember Crime Stoppers wants information not the callers name.

The world's largest jigsaw puzzle was put together on Sunday, August 19, 1984. It was 3,648 feet square and consisted of 13,500 pieces.

Polley will bid ACHS goodbye!

by GLORIA DAVIS

The fall semester at Antioch High School will be the first time in 37 years that Supt. Warren Polley won't be on hand to greet the students.

WARREN POLLEY

Polley announced his resignation, effective at the end of this school year, at the last regular meeting of the board of education.

"The job needs 100 percent and I find myself at 63 not really able to do it justice," he said.

With his health allowing, he and his wife Mary intend to spend time seeing many of the "wonderful local events that we just haven't had time for."

Traveling is also at the top of the retirement agenda, as is spending more time with their children and grandchildren.

Polley's many hobbies, clock making etc. will also get a little more attention.

Almost his entire career in education has been spent at Antioch. He arrived at Antioch High School 37 years ago as a business education teacher, just four years after getting his teaching degree at the University of Illinois, Champagne.

Polley also served as sophomore athletic coach with sophomore basketball getting his coaching attention for nine years.

He was also athletic director for a time and served as assistant principal and dean of boys in 1957. He became assistant superintendent from 1961 to 1972 and was appointed superintendent in 1972, a position he has held for 13 years.

Just last year the board named the new high school soccer fields after him in honor of the many years of service he has given to the school.

Bank of Waukegan's earnings best yet

Fred Abdula, president of Northern States Financial Corp. and chairman of the board of the Bank of Waukegan, announced to stockholders at the corporation's annual meeting on Dec. 13, that for the third consecutive year, earnings and growth were the highest in its history.

Net income for 1984 was $1,734,507, representing a 20.5 percent increase over fiscal 1983 income of $1,439,197.

The net income produced on earnings per share of $11.01, resulting in a return on equity of 20.8 percent dividends paid to stockholders during the year totalled $1.50 per share, a 20 percent increase over 1983. Ending book value of $62.52 was an 18 percent increase over 1983 book value of $53.01.

Charles Ofenloch, Bank of Waukegan president, reported that the return on assets was 1.20 percent, which ranks the bank as a high performer among financial institutions.

Total assets increased 17 percent to $156,296,326, the single largest increase of assets in any one year in the bank's history.

Deposits increased 18 percent to a year end total of $128,917,987, and total loans outstanding on Sept. 30, 1984 were $79,056,320, an 18 percent increase over the 1983 ending balance of $66,959,440.

He indicated that the increase in loans can be related to a stabilized rate environment during the past year, and the bank's aggressive lending program.

When I think about it

Mother Nature needs a wardrobe update!

by GLORIA DAVIS

OK folks, there's just got to be a way to update Mother Nature. Now I don't want to fool with her, I've seen those television commercials that show what happens when you cross that gal with the wreath of daisies on her head.

For centuries poets have waxed eloquently about the icy jewels and the glittering blanket of white she dons every winter. But there must be a way to tell this esteemed matriarch that, though these ermine robes were fine in the days of the horse drawn sleigh, she's really sort of out of style in the 1980's.

Today, the only people that dig this reignment are children with those new plastic sliding things that have taken the place of sleds, snowmobilers, cross-country skiers, and the elderly devotees of Robert Frost.

Even skiers don't need the natural white stuff anymore with all the ski resorts having snow-making machines that need only sub-freezing temperatures to cover the hills with man-made snow.

Today's mobile society just screams for her to update her wardrobe! Without even dwelling on the cost of snow removal, salting the roads, the damage that does to our aluminum foil cars, the reasons for her to get into grasscloth or something more in earth tones far outnumber the votes for white on white.

She seems to be her own boss but I wonder how long she'd be employed if she had to work under one who frowned on excuses like, "I was snowed in my driveway," or "I slid into a ditch and was stuck there for two hours."

As far as being prepared to deal with her annual winter fashion show, she still hasn't come-up with a proper program for the event.

Forget the Farmer's Almanac, that's almost as archaic as her closet! I speak as one who faced the most snow-less winters in history after rushing out to buy boots and a snow-blower to contend with the almanac's predicted "showiest winters ever."

And about the comedy section of the news that is laughing devoted to the weather, I'm sure that using eenee, meenee, minee, moe, would be more accurate than the forecast on TV or radio.

Take our holiday weather predictions. The meteorologists were wrong three out of three times on Christmas Eve. Remember, first we were told that we wouldn't have a white Christmas. Then that was changed to a possible dusting of snow, "one that a wisk broom could sweep away."

As soon as everyone took the roads for their holiday traveling and the snow started to pile-up dire warnings of a possible five inches shrilled across the airways.

Of course we ended-up with clear roads and barely two inches appropriately decorating the landscape on a lovely sunny but cold Christmas Day. But think of the heart palpitations suffered by worry-warts like myself with kids on the road heading home for Christmas in between all these prediction changes.

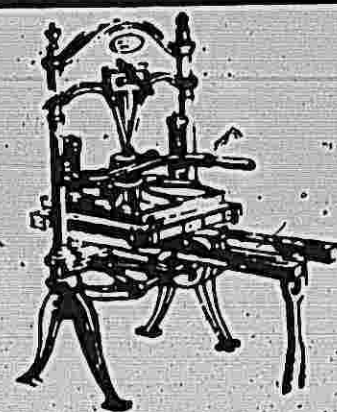

And just as we had recovered from all that it was followed by the rain predictions that had people shoveling five inches of the milkiest rain you ever saw.

Woman to woman, can we talk here, Mother Nature? You're getting to the age where white is beginning to give you that washed-out look! Sure its stunning when your first put it on but those slushy-grey hues that take over almost instantaneously are just not your colors.

From one working person to another, how about something in spring green or sunny yellow, please!

A one-reel version of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde made in 1908 was the first horror movie.

The Time Machine

FIFTY YEARS AGO: Jan. 3, 1935

A well-known Antioch character was in the Waukegan jail awaiting trial on charges of burglarizing King's Drug Store. After the store had been burglarized four times, presumably by the same character, he entered the store and walked into the arms of a deputy sheriff that was waiting for him.

Democratic Senator Thomas Smith proposed a bill calling for the sterilization of all the feeble minded people in Illinois. The new Ford V-8 was advertised for $510.

An article on "Spotlighting the Stars" in the News spotlighted the biggies of the time, Jack Benny and Mary Livingston, Fred Allen, Ginger Rogers and Fred Astaire as well as Tom Mix.

THIRTY YEARS AGO: Jan. 6, 1955

Lloyd Murrie was making his first try at politics as he announced his opposition to incumbent supervisor William Rosing.

Bernard Guillaume, church school superintendent of the Antioch Methodist Church, moved to Florida to open the Ebbtide Motel in St. Petersburg.

Cpl. Richard Meyer was home for Christmas on leave from the Army.

John Molose, Grass Lake, caught an 11 and a 12 pound northern pike.

The 1955, six passenger, Buick Special was advertised for $2,299.

Incumbent Robert Webb was being opposed for reelection as road commissioner by Dick Waters.

TEN YEARS AGO: Jan. 8, 1975

Despite the backing of lovely Antioch High School cheerleaders Jody Fields, Nancy Pawlowski and Sherri Enghardt, the Sequoit cagers lost to Mundelein.

Glenda Hurt won the 10-speed bike for collecting the most money from sponsors in the Cancer Bike-A-Thon.

150 Acres owned by the CABL Corp., north of the Antioch Upper Grade School, was petitioning the Antioch Village Board for annexation to the village.

Norma Garvin's "Crunchy Peanutbutter Crescent Bars" won her a trip to the Pillsbury Bakeoff.

The Antioch Village Trustee seats held by Marge Nelson, Arnold Webber and Irving Walsh were open in the spring election.

The Sequoit cagers, with the season half over, had a 10-3 record.

The first drinking chocolate was reputedly sold in England in the 17th century, having been imported from the West Indies.

The first woman newspaper editor in America was Benjamin Franklin's sister-in-law, Ann Franklin, who edited the Newport, R.I. Mercury.

Christmas trees look pretty, useful afterwards

It is always a melancholy time when the excitement of the holidays is over and the tree is taken down. Most of us hate to just throw out the tree that has provided so much enjoyment.

James Fizzell, University of Illinois Horticulturist, says there are several ways the old trees can be used by gardeners.

The one thing you should not do with the old tree, he warns, is to burn it in the fireplace. A dry tree will burn with intense heat and may buckle a steel fireplace, crack a flue in a brick chimney or could start a chimney fire. If anything, use small twigs for kindling, he suggests.

An old tradition dating to the middle ages is to move the tree outside and set it up for the animals, decorated with various kinds of foods.

Birds will appreciate suet cakes with seeds, strings of popcorn or cranberries and fresh pine cones with seeds still inside.

Squirrels will appreciate strings of peanuts or apple slices.

During inclement weather the tree can provide protection to animals who will roost in it or huddle under it as long as the storm persists.

Birds such as cardinals and jays which stay here all year are much more likely to take up permanent residence in your yard if invited there for the winter.

If you are already providing for the animals, there are other ways the old tree can be put to good use.

For areas such as ours where there is always the danger of alternate freezing and thawing, perennials should be covered, not to keep them warm but to keep them cold. For this reason you always need to wait to mulch the garden until after the ground has frozen. The ideal mulch is light enough to permit air to penetrate, but substantial enough to shade the soil and keep it from thawing everytime the sun shines on it.

A good mulch to use for this purpose, easily available after Christmas is your left over Christmas tree. Branches from your tree can be cut up and laid over your perennial bed. Two layers of boughs, crisscrossed, should suffice. They admit air to the ground, but keep out the sun.

In the spring, remove the boughs in two stages, three or four days apart just as the first new sprouts appear. This permits the tender new growth to become gradually acclimated to the still chilly spring air.

If you have extensive perennial beds or strawberries, you might run out of branches from your own tree. But you can be sure there will be a ready supply as neighbors discard their trees.

DID YOU KNOW?

There is solid evidence that nonsmokers can suffer lung disease from exposure to the cigarette smoke of others, according to a recent report from the Surgeon General of the United States.

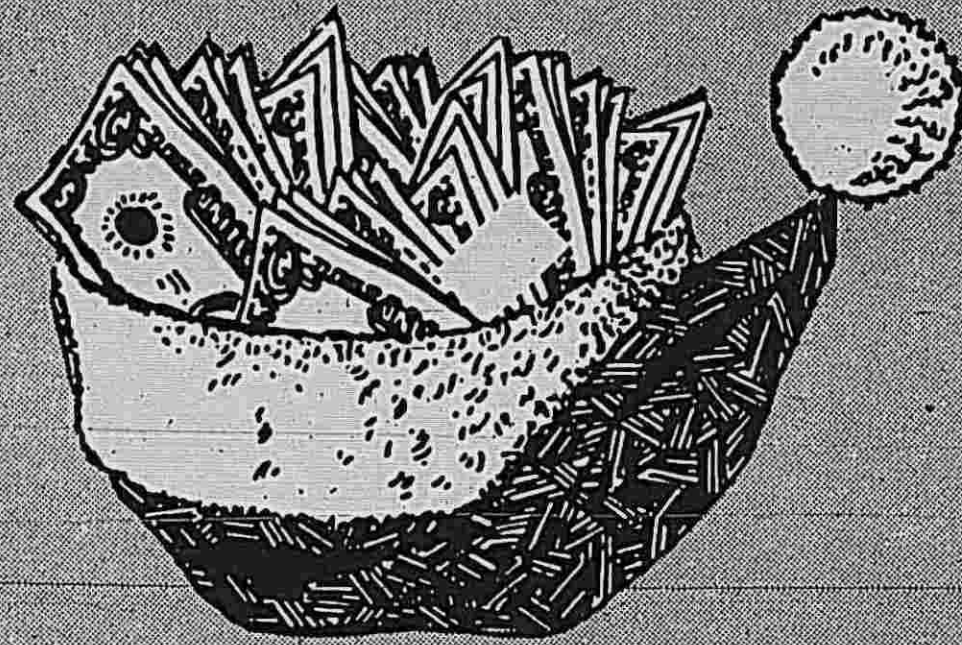

• The 515-page report states that cigarette smoking can make a significant measurable contribution to the level of indoor air pollution.

• Children of families with parents who smoke appear to have small, but measurable differences in tests of pulmonary function when compared to children from families whose parents are nonsmokers.

• An association also exists between parental smoking in the home and an increased rate of respiratory symptoms among children. These children have an increased frequency of bronchitis and pneumonia early in life when compared to children with nonsmoking parents.

• An estimated 62,000 Americans died of chronic lung disease in 1983. Up to 90 percent of these cases could be directly attributable to cigarette smoking.

Stage review Candelight's 'Nine', a must see show!

by GLORIA DAVIS

Although I had heard of the musical "Nine," and was aware that it had been the recipient of a few Tony Awards, I was completely ignorant of its story and music line when I arrived to review it at the Candelight Dinner Theater.

Not only was it refreshing to see a musical that I did not know all the lines and songs from, but this one's uniqueness made it an entirely new experience.

Picture if you will, a stark large white marble platform upon which stands an extremely handsome and sensual middle aged man, clad simply in a black silk shirt and slacks.

Surround him with 21 women who looked like they had just escaped from a designer's fashion show, dressed in some of the sharpest black outfits seen outside of a Michigan Ave. showroom.

There you have the unusual beginning. Add to this 23 fantastic voices (including the lead as a boy of nine); a plot based on the mid-life crisis of Fredricko Fellini, the famed Italian film director, plus music and lyrics by the talented Maury Yeston and you have a top drawer musical.

Judging by the flawless production being offered by the Candelight Playhouse it must be rated as one of the top versions done of this musical.

The sophisticatedly witty book by Arthur Kopit puts the finishing touch on a great theatrical evening.

Guido Contini, the aging Casanova who finds his life destructing in front of his eyes, is believably and charmingly played by Mark Jacoby who comes to Candelight with impressive credits.

His rich operatic voice lends itself well to "Only With You," "The Bells of St. Sebastian," and other solos.

Its a toss-up which of his favorite ladies steals the show with some really outstanding musical emoting, his wife played by Paty Lombard or his favorite actress, Claudia, played by Candelight favorite Paula Scrofano.

Both turn in sensitive and passionate performances especially when they musically bid Contini goodbye.

Hollis Resnik who plays Contini's sexy mistress, Carla, not only has a beautiful body but an equally beautiful talent and is striking in her fiery role.

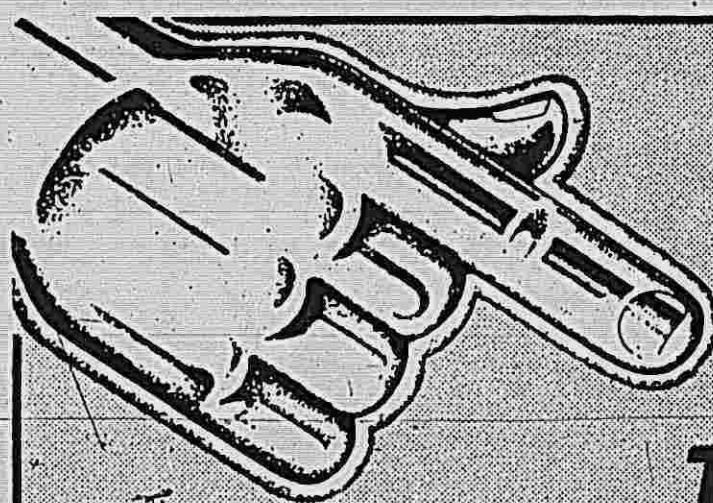

Ditto the cameo musical performances of Ami Silvestri as his stunning lady producer (loved her version of "Folies Bergeres"), Mib Bramlette, as the whore that teaches him out the birds and bees and Iris Lieberman who plays the caustic critic.

The gorgeous costumes are one of the most important parts of the show (done under Julie Jackson's supervision).

They do a wonderful job of symbolizing Contini's maturing when the black stunners worn in the first part of the show reappear just as dazzlingly in the final scene, this time in white.

This is not the typical tired businessman's show and may be a little too complicated and sophisticated for some. But the resulting enjoyment is well worth the little concentration it takes to follow all the sometimes abstract symbolism.

It is glittering, it is chic, it is free in spirit, it is clever and new! An experience not to be missed!

Sequoits face Fenton presently in fifth

by MIKE PRAMSHAFER

The Antioch High School varsity basketball team will continue North Suburban Conference play when it travels to Fenton on Friday, Jan. 4.

The Sequoits presently stand in fifth place in the conference with a 2-2 mark, 3-6 overall at press time.

Fenton is having a horrible season thus far, as they have yet to win a game (0-3 in conference, 0-6 overall).

Antioch competed in the Rockford Holiday Classic tournament over the holidays, but at press time only the results of two games were available.

In the Sequoits' opener they faced a tough Rockford Boylan team.

Antioch was totally outplayed by the Titans, losing by a score of 84-38.

Head coach Don Zeman said his team was extremely intimidated against Boylan, a team who has only lost twice thus far this season.

The Titans were overpowering, as they held Antioch to just 15 points at the half to their 37.

The third quarter was just as bad as Boylan outscored the Sequoits 26-12 to take a 63-27 lead going into the fourth quarter.

The final stanza saw the Sequoits get outscored once again by a 21-11 margin, making the final 84-38.

Antioch only managed to get one player in double figures on the night and that was Senior Chris Zeien, who scored just 10 points.

In Antioch's second game of the tournament, they faced Du Sable in the loser's bracket.

The Sequoits were victorious, as they whipped Du Sable by a score of 58-37.

The victory improved Antioch's overall record to 3-6.

The results of the Sequoits' third game of the tournament were not available at press time.

Presently, Antioch is in fifth place in the conference behind unbeaten Zion-Benton and Niles North (4-0), and Warren and Libertyville (3-1).

The Sequoits hope to improve that standing when they face Fenton on Friday night.

Good News Department

American education is getting a boost these days, thanks to corporate involvement and financial support.

Many private companies are doing their part to support public education in America.

A high school on Chicago's West Side, for example, was in bad condition and would have been forced to close if private foundations and public corporations had not responded.

Thanks to a project sponsored by the National Paint and Coatings Association called "Picture It Painted," the school will be getting a new look and be able to serve new generations of students.

Providence-St. Mel High School needed new plumbing, electrical wiring, plaster, painting and much more. With the help of a $25,000 grant from Dow Chemical, USA, the contribution of paint by DeSoto, Inc., and contributions of painting equipment by the Chicago Decorating Products Association, the school's library was totally redone by October, just in time for first term exams. Other sections of the school will also be painted as they are structurally rehabilitated. New shelving units supplied by Equipto Company of Aurora, Illinois, a Dow customer, will hold $60,000 worth of new books pledged to the school as a result of the restoration.

It's a fine example, many agree, of how private sector initiatives are making valuable contributions to the quality of life in the United States. These companies view this project as truly an investment in America's future through strong education.

Antioch lost that one, 84-38, but came back in their second game of the Rockford Holiday Classic to beat Du Sable, 58-37. # High schoolers to join Crime Stoppers

by DEVON NELSON
News Reporter

A new countywide crime stoppers program aimed at curtailing crime activity on the high school level was unveiled at the Lake County Crime Stoppers year-end meeting Dec. 20.

The meeting, held at the Libertyville Radio Station, was attended by 19 police chiefs from the Lake and Kenosha counties, who came out to review the program's progress since its inception in May of 1984.

"The meeting gave us the opportunity to show the various police departments and chiefs, who initially started the program, what we as an organization have been doing for the past seven months, said Ronald Hauri, director of the program.

The high school crime stoppers program was only one of several campaigns discussed by the board for the upcoming year.

The program an entirely new approach in Illinois and surrounding areas was adopted from a similar program instituted by Hauri in Boulder, Colorado.

Like the parent operation, high schools will select their own board of directors and will pay rewards, although nominal, to students providing information that will lead to disciplinary action by the schools administrators. Students wishing to provide information would contact the Lake County Crime Stoppers office who will provide the information back to a liaison at the school who will be responsible for determining what action if any will be taken. Unless an act is of a criminal or serious nature, the problem would be handled by the schools administrators.

According to Hauri, when the program was first instituted in Colorado. There were approximately 16 locker thefts in the school per day but after the implementation of the program the figures dwindled to one locker theft per day.

"We don't give students enough credit, but they are capable of operating such programs," said Hauri. "This program will give students the opportunity to demonstrate their civic obligations and will allow them hands on experience with dealing with certain matters, Hauri commented.

The board also formerly accepted North Chicago into the countywide program effective Jan. 1, 1985 and installed Mary Hayes on the board of directors to represent the city.

Carmel to hold sign-up

Registration for the 1985 Freshmen class at Carmel High School, Rte. 176, will take place Saturday, Jan. 12.

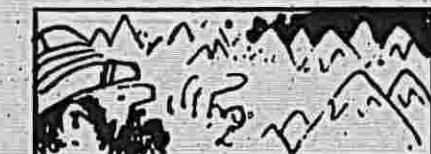

All 8th grade boys and girls who plan to attend Carmel next September must come to the school to register and to take a series of ability and achievement tests. The test results, along with information received from the student's elementary school, will be used by Carmel to schedule the student for next year.

The testing will begin at Carmel at 8:30 a.m. and will continue until about 12:30. No student can be admitted after 8:30 and no further testing date is planned for later in the year.

If illness prevents any student from taking the placement test on January 14, it is absolutely necessary that the school be called in order that a place be reserved for September—Carmel for Girls (312) 566-8440 or Carmel for Boys, (312) 566-4080. Such students should make arrangements to take the high school placement tests with the public school students and have the results sent to Carmel.

Each student must bring a $10.00 testing fee. All students are also asked to bring a pen, and two No. 2 soft led pencils.

For more information, call (312) 566-4080 (boys) or (312) 566-8440 (girls).

Senior volunteers fete fellow senior citizens

The volunteers of the Chain of Lakes Senior Services, Antioch office, held their fifth annual Christmas Party on Friday, Dec. 7 for the people they serve all year.

Over 90 percent of the volunteers are seniors themselves and they share their Christmas Party by cooking and baking, and even helping transport clients to and from the party, as there are just too many people for their busses to handle.

Some "Telecare" clients and "Meals with Wheels" clients were able to attend because of this. There was no charge to the seniors for this party.

Bernie's Peptones helped with the caroling as did the Madrigal Singers from Antioch High School. Santa had gifts for everyone through the generosity of the following: Floral Acres, Kuehn's Greenhouse, Schwind Nursery, Leider's Greenhouse, Food's Unlimited, Antioch Twp. Sup., Jim Fields, White Hen Pantry, Mayor of Antioch, Ray Toft, Limerick, Glass Impressions, Piggly Wiggly, Bresslers 31, McDonald's, Vault Restaurant, Las Vegas Restaurant, Antioch Pizza, Pizza Plus, Quacker Industries, Straw Barn, First National Bank, State Bank of Antioch, 885 Club, Kayden, King's Drug, Strang's Funeral Home, Antioch Hearing Aid, Bernie's Maverick Arco, Ben Franklin, Hair Studio, R. Jedele, U. Siefferty, R. Eckert, Maaco Auto, Miller Family, A-1 Auto Parts, Gerken Egg Farm, Lioness of Grayslake and Roxie Jenkins.

There were also many anonymous gifts donated. Please forgive it if anyone is forgotten. Other guests attending were Antioch Township Supervisor Jim Fields; Mayor Ray Toft, Rev. Stephen Williams, Randall Wiesemann, director, Ruth Davidson, director and Ruth Ann Breitweiser.

Birinda Johnson, Antioch office manager is grateful to everyone for making this a success. Without the tender, loving care the volunteers give so freely, this service would not be possible.

Toft planning to ride out started projects

Will 13 be Ray Toft's lucky number? He will be bidding for his 13, 14, 15 and 16th years as Antioch's mayor in the spring election.

Toft served as the village's top honcho in the 1960's but took an eight-year hiatus when he was beaten out for office by Robert Wilton and Mike Haley in 1973 and 1977.

He regained his office by beating Haley, Wilton and four other candidates in the 1981 election.

Toft, like the President, wants to stay in office to see some of the projects he started finished.

Now that Waste Management has raised a white flag over the Antioch landfill site, the village is in the process of suing the disposal company.

Toft would like to be in on recovering some of the monies the village spent to close the landfill site and more, since the whole thing came to a victorious head while his administration was in.

He would like to see all three senior citizens housing units (98 units altogether) in operation since these long talked about projects became a reality while he was in office.

He also expects the revamping of the downtown retail area to get going in a big way during the next four years with a projected start to be evident by next summer.

"I have some street projects left having completed about half of the plans for the street refurbishing," he said.

The stop lights at North Ave. (federally funded) are another of the street projects he'd like to walk through to completion.

Toft, Clerk Marilyn Sterbenz and incumbent trustees, Rod White, Vern Barnstable and Ron Cunningham will all be running on a party ticket, the name of the party still to be chosen.

Auditioning performers to play Busch Gardens

"The Audition"...a phrase that raises pulse rates and prompts floor-pacing by aspiring performers. And well it should, because auditions from high school to Broadway are high-pressure affairs.

On Tuesday, Jan. 15, talent scouts from Busch Gardens, The Old Country, will be in Chicago to audition young performers from the area for the park's 1985 season.

The auditions will be held from 12-6 p.m. at the Palmer House Hotel, 17 East Monroe St. at State St., Wabash Parlor Room.

Busch Gardens is rapidly gaining a reputation as a proving ground for young talent. Several of the park's young "stars" have gone on to bigger and better things, like Broadway or national touring companies.

In fact, one former park entertainer, Bob Hoshour, is appearing in the Broadway hit, "Cats." The local audition was his first step to Broadway.

Linda Searls, entertainment manager for Busch Gardens, The Old Country, and Joe Peczi, entertainment director for Busch Entertainment Corp., have perfected the fine art of grooming and developing young performers.

They will be in Chicago before the auditions, and will come prepared with audition tips and down-to-earth career advice for those with an urge to perform.

FCC approves new monthly phone charge

A plan that will keep Illinois telephone rates reasonably priced in the future and help stem the drain of Illinois dollars to sunbelt states was approved today by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC).

The plan also should result in lower interstate long distance rates.

Illinois Bell's residence and single-line interstate long distance rates.

Illinois Bell's residence and single-line customers will pay a $1 monthly charge for each service line connecting them to the company's switching centers, under the FCC order. The charge will become effective June 1, 1985.

The fee will cover part of the cost of the customer's service line that had been subsidized by revenue from interstate, long distance callers.

Eventual savings in local rates for all customers — including savings for customers who don't make long distance calls — will more than offset the additional local charge, according to Fred K. Konrad, Illinois Bell assistant vice president.

"The line charge will replace a subsidy system that encourages high-volume users, who pay more than their service costs, to bypass the telephone network with private telecommunications facilities," Konrad said. "Bypass of the local network increases the cost of service for our remaining customers."

The $1 line charge also represents a first step in ending an unfair system that drains tens of millions of dollars each year from Illinois to subsidize callers in the higher-cost sunbelt states, Konrad said.

"Because Illinois has some of the lowest telecommunications costs in the country, interstate long distance callers in this state traditionally have paid rates higher than the actual cost of their service," he said. "This contribution subsidizes local rates in higher-cost states."

"By ending this subsidy system, the FCC line charge allows us to keep more of our own dollars at home."

The FCC line charge for residence and single-line business customers will not increase Illinois Bell's revenue.

The famed Italian opera "I Pagliacci"—the story of a jealous clown who kills his wife—is based on a real-life murder.
